Fireworks, Campfire
Program Open To Visitors Wednesday

While visitors from those who are interested in the work, to Camp Reinberg, are always welcomed, they are especially invited for next Wednesday evening, when the usual fireworks display and camp fire will be held.

It will be a gala day in many ways. During the afternoon, athletic events and races will be on the program. A band from the Bohemian orphanage on North Crawford avenue, will furnish music. President Anton J. Cernak will be the speaker of the day.

One of the greatest entertainments ever held at Camp Reinberg took place Tuesday evening. Seventeen countries were represented in the league of nations. It was all so interesting to Mr. O'Carroll to discover at that time that there were 11 present who had visited the camp every year since it was organized.

Where They Come From
Many people will ask where the fresh air children come from. There could be at least eight camps in Cook county similar to Camp Reinberg. There are no less than 27,000 people who can be called wards of the county. At the present time, less than 2,500 of these can be accommodated at the one camp. Each of the charity agencies has a quota that they more than oversubscribe.

The first group are from the bureau of public welfare; the second is divided between public welfare and the juvenile court; 3rd are the public welfare; 5th juvenile court and mother's pension; 6th, colored children; 7th, county agent and juvenile court.

The outings average ten days. One day elapses between the departure of one group and the arrival of another. This period is more than taken up with the cleaning of the buildings, washing of the beds, etc. The staff have only two free Sundays during the entire summer.

Strenuous as is the work at Camp Reinberg, there are many applications for staff positions. For a possible eight seasons, Mr. O'Carroll had 1,173 applications. There were 276 applications for camp directors.

A Grocery Store
A visit to the storehouses reveals the stock of the store. They only contain supplies for two groups—there is not space for more. Cases of corn flakes extended to the ceiling. The consumption of bread is no less than 150 loaves a day. Other supplies are purchased in like proportion. While expensive food is not used, only the very best is served. The toddlers have even a jam that was stolen. The halls, gloves and bats will wear out, but the children protect the property. In the purchase of the athletic equipment are included games and articles for pastime activities for use during the quiet hour or during rain. Twelve tables have been purchased and placed at advantageous points around the grounds, around which small groups can congregate for their favorite game. These games, tennis rackets, etc., are all of standard high grade material. It has been proved a waste of money to purchase the other kind.

There is nothing that adds to the camp as the prizes, often of very small intrinsic value, which are given at the camp fires. Mr. O'Carroll purchased $250 worth last week.

The numerous prizes offered in the contests spur the young people on to do their best. Those contests cover almost everything, from the star camper, race, acts of skill to fishing ability. The latter is the latest. Fish lines are there and the funny tribe are numerous in the two lakes.

Camp Reinberg reached its present perfection by growth, not thru the experience or thought of any one person. When the mothers go to their homes, they are asked to write back suggestions for improvements. Many such letters are received. As far as possible the suggestions are carried out. The innovation of serving crackers and milk about three o'clock each afternoon to the small children is one of these.

The mother's cabin was built a year ago, but it was not fully equipped until now. Several dozen rocking chairs have been installed, floor lamps, a library of 250 volumes of fiction from the Chicago library, has been installed. Another change of benefit to the mothers is a senior woman institute, who supervises the girl recreational activities and gives direct attention to the mothers. Every morning, the mothers are gathered together and given a talk on cleanliness and hygiene. A nurse is sent from Miss Fulmer, supervisor of Cook county nurse service, to give talks. Improved facilities are provided for the bathing of the babies. Little needs such as clothing replacement of the children is attended to on the grounds. There are probably four gross of buttons that have to be sewed on. Probably fifty to seventy-five pairs of shoes have to be replaced in each group.

These are just a few of the "extras" that are given to the fresh air children and their mothers.

Play Ground Equipment
All of the playground equipment has been overhauled and weakened units have been replaced. Some of

CAMP MEETING TO OPEN NEXT WEEK FRIDAY

The Sixty-ninth annual Des Plaines camp meeting will open next Friday, July 6, and continue until the 15th. These camp meetings attract Methodists and people of other denominations from all over the northern part of the state. The programs that are being distributed prestige one of the most successful meetings in its career.

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, will preach on the first Sunday evening. This will be the first large assembly of Chicago Methodists that the Bishop will address since his return to this area after General Conference.

Bishop L. J. Birney, for eight years one of the Bishops in China, is one of the outstanding men of our College of Bishops. This will be his first appearance at Des Plaines and Chicago.

The Rev. Fred Ingvaldsen is the pastor of the largest Methodist church in the state of Illinois. He is a former member of the Rock River conference. He will speak at the evening service on Saturday, July 7.

Dr. Charles Tidley is the pastor of the largest colored Methodist church in the world. His fame as an orator is nation wide, and his former appearance at Des Plaines Camp Grounds assures him of large audiences.

Dr. Merton S. Rice, one of Methodist's pulpits, is the speaker for Thursday evening. Dr. Rice is unique, his message stirring and his personality dynamic. He is the noted pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist church of Detroit.

Ralph Connor is again on the Des Plaines program. He won the hearts of Des Plaines people last year, and Methodists are privileged this year to have him for a longer period. He is probably the world's best known Christian Novelist, the author of "Black Rock," "Sky Pilot," "The Man from Glenarry," "The Doctor" and many other popular books.

Prof. Edmund D. Soper is loved at Des Plaines Camp Grounds. For three years he conducted series of lectures and he will be welcomed again this year. He is now a professor in Duke University, Durham, North Carolina. Dr. Soper's coming will bring back many friends to Des Plaines.

Bishop James C. Baker, well known, recently elected to the office of Bishop by our General Conference, will be speaker for the second Sunday morning service. His outstanding leadership in work with the underprivileged people will make him a choice speaker.

Bishop Edwin L. Lee, the newly elected Bishop assigned to Singapore, is a powerful speaker. He is to be the speaker on Preachers' Day.

Sig. Mario Cappelli. He is claimed to be one of the greatest personalities singing before the music lovers of the world. He is an illustrious interpreter of Handel, Paganini, and sings the Negro Spirituals with unusual power. His artistic skill is baffling. Sig. Cappelli gives the impression of a vast consciousness in all his work, scholarly, artistic, devout. He is an example of the best in music today.

The Rev. F. F. Farmiloe will be the leader of the Bible Hours held every morning at 9:30. Dr. Farmiloe holds a distinct place in the hearts of Des Plaines people.

The Rev. Charles H. Draper, has been selected as Business Manager and Chaplain of the Camp Grounds for the 1928 season. Mr. Draper is unusually fitted for this important task in promoting the aggressive program which has been planned for this year. His natural gifts as a leader and business manager make him an ideal choice. His experience will serve well in the Des Plaines. He has served on the Board of Directors of Old Orchard Maine Camp Grounds. He has served as Dean of Kent's Hill Epworth League, and as president of the new swimming pool that is now in the process of construction. Builders are doing everything possible to have the Swimming Pool in readiness for Camp Meeting time. The pool and its equipment will be modern in every particular, having been designed by Thibaut & Fugard, Architects. The buildings will harmonize with the general plan made two years ago for the development of the Camp Grounds. The pool will be 100 feet by 60 feet and suitable for all kinds of modern swimming methods. The popularity of this feature of the program is indicated from many quarters through the inquiries that are constantly being received. Des Plaines will have its pool this summer, and the trustees hope that the high expectations we have for clean, wholesome recreation at the Camp Grounds.

Frederick Elbing and Harold Dodd will be trumpeters for the large Sunday meetings.

Some of the best choirs in Chicago Methodism will appear on the program this year, namely, Glen Ellyn, Irving Park and Euclid Avenue.

A THOUSAND ACRES ADDED TO PALATINE

The village of Palatine will add one thousand acres to its corporate limits next Monday, when the final ordinance is passed by the village board. Annexation proceedings were changed by the last state legislature and no election is necessary. The required legal proceedings include a hearing in court, which, in this instance, was held Wednesday and approval was given for the annexation.

The new territory is on all sides of the present village limits. The northern boundary of the village is now the Baldwin road. The new territory lies south of that highway between the Hicks road and the center line of section 15, which extends west of Quentin road and south to the Langford road. The southern boundary on Plum Grove avenue, is the same as formerly. In the southeast, the annexation extends to Rohlfing road. The only farms that are omitted are the ones owned by Messrs. Leseberg, Schroeder and Himberg.

This annexation makes possible a great expansion program by the village. To what extent the subdivisions will ask for public improvements has not yet been announced. The zoning of this property will probably not be touched upon at this time.

Included in the annexation are two roadhouses, which will be essentially closed, if Palatine is to maintain its record of no roadhouses in the village limits.

Des Plaines for any part of the encampment should direct them to their leaders who will see that they are cared for and helped.

Des Plaines Camp Grounds is now destined to be one of the outstanding centers for our Methodist young people where clean, wholesome fun may be mingled with religious influences. The dream that many lovers of Des Plaines have cherished for years is to be realized this year in the completion of the new swimming pool that is now in the process of construction. Builders are doing everything possible to have the Swimming Pool in readiness for Camp Meeting time. The pool and its equipment will be modern in every particular, having been designed by Thibaut & Fugard, Architects. The buildings will harmonize with the general plan made two years ago for the development of the Camp Grounds. The pool will be 100 feet by 60 feet and suitable for all kinds of modern swimming methods. The popularity of this feature of the program is indicated from many quarters through the inquiries that are constantly being received. Des Plaines will have its pool this summer, and the trustees hope that the high expectations we have for clean, wholesome recreation at the Camp Grounds.

Pretty Wedding In Palatine Church

WOLFF-DREXLER
A very pretty wedding and one of interest took place Saturday evening, June 23, 1928, in the Evangelical Lutheran church of Palatine, when Miss Elsa Annette Wolff, of this city, became the bride of Mr. Julius C. Drexler of Des Plaines, Ill.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers, the work of H. C. Blewitt, florists, Des Plaines. The Rev. Poellet of Palatine read the ceremony.

At 7:00 o'clock p. m., while Mr. Schroeder softly played the wedding march, the bride party slowly proceeded to the altar.

Miss Hilda Hitzemann, of Palatine, one of the bridesmaids, was gownned in orchid georgette and carried a huge bouquet of red roses. She was followed by Miss Eleanor Strutz of Chicago, who wore pale blue georgette and carried tea roses. The maid of honor, Miss Erna Krueger, also of Chicago, wore pink georgette and carried pink roses.

Little Bobby Stude, nephew of the groom, acted his part beautifully as ring bearer. He carried a white lily in which the wedding ring was embedded. Little Helen Sieberg of Palatine, was the flower girl. She was dressed in peach chiffon, and carried a basket of sweet peas and snapdragons. As she preceded the bride to the altar, she dropped flowers into the bride's path.

Then, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, came the bride, on the arm of her father, and met the groom at the altar.

The bride was gownned in Ivory satin, trimmed with lace and pleated tulle. Her veil was held in place by a crown of lace to match her dress, and by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The ushers were Mr. Chas. Gaare and Mr. Paul Knuth. Mr. Ernest Drexler, brother of the groom was best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party, together with about 80 relatives and friends partook of a sumptuous dinner served in the school auditorium by members of the ladies aid of said church. The reception took place at the home of the bride. The home was beautifully decorated, color scheme being pink and white.

Mrs. Drexler was formerly employed by the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. Her happy disposition and pleasing manner has won her countless friends. Mr. Drexler holds a reputable position in Chicago. He has been a resident of Des Plaines, living with his folks, for the past 17 years.

The happy couple were recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts.

At a late hour the newlyweds quietly slipped away for an auto trip through Wisconsin and Michigan, taking in the Dells and other places of interest.

ADDITIONAL
EASY WINNER

The Palatine high school board of education had their worries about making ends meet in the construction of the new high school, but those worries are a little less after last Saturday, when the voters of the district by a vote of 92 to 9 placed their approval upon an additional $30,000 bond issue. The vote on each of the two propositions were identical. The voters of Palatine have approved the issuing of a total of $155,000 in bonds. While this amount will not cover all of the cost, it goes a long way to that end. Aside from the money that was voted to them, the board are particularly pleased with the fact that the vote can be considered in part as a vote of confidence in the erection of Palatine's new high school.

The contracts that remain to be let are the window shades, teachers' desks and chairs, the office furniture and the landscaping of the grounds.

All of the floors will be completed this week. The gymnasium floor is ready for the final coat. Decorators are completing the work in the auditorium. This decorating is very unusual in high school buildings and Palatine was fortunate in being able to secure the service of the artist at a nominal figure. Secretary Smith states that the equipment will be installed the early part of July. The date of the dedication has not yet been set.

Palatine Easy
Victors Sunday
Over Lake Zurich

The Palatine Wild cats were easy victors over the Lake Zurich nine last Sunday by a score of 13 to 4.

August Hahnfeldt, Jim's new catcher, played a good game.

Sunday, July 1, they will play at Northbrook which will be their eighth game, winning 6 out of 7 thus far. July 4 the Wild Cats will be on Nason's field, with Morton Grove around them.

Last Sunday's game would have been a little more interesting had it not rained, but as far as the spectators are concerned they like to see the Wild Cats play, rain or shine, which was a rumor caught by one of the team.

Don't forget to come out the 4th at 2:30 p.m. at Nason's field. It will undoubtedly be a close game if comparison is made with the last game with Morton Grove in which the game ended with a score of 14-13 in Morton Grove's favor.

Dr. Schirding and Family Enjoying
Trip To California

A card received by the editor from Dr. Wm. F. Schirding tells of his enjoyable auto trip to California. The card was written at Mesa Verde National Park. He reports that he has had a dandy trip so far; has been in sight of snow several days and when going over a pass was in the snowstorm, itself. He took the scenic route through California. The roads were good, but a lot of mountain climbing, which was easily accomplished with his car. The doctor took a special interest in the ruins of the cliff dwellers.

Lions will roar on the fourth. Byrd will fly. The Eagle will scream. All on the high school campus. Let others creep along and curse on crowded highways. Enjoy the best celebration yet in our community.

Keynote Bowers must have used a water cooling system when he wrote that vituperative speech on the republicans. Since when has the Tammany Tiger been such a saint? Reminds me of Billy. Billy yelled "I won't wash my face." Naughtily, naughtily said grandfather. When I was a little boy I always washed my face." Yes and now look at it," retorted Bill.

All Smith at Houston. Yet Smith's not so popular in his own state. Here are some figures. When first elected governor in 1918 he carried only four counties outside of N. Y. City (which comprises five small counties). In 1924 he only carried one outside N. Y. City and in the last election he carried four outside of the city. The money that elected him came from the Power trusts, gamblers and brewers.

Coming back again to that Keynote speech, which called the donkey and the tiger and makes a zebra out of it. A little colored girl, a newcomer in school gave her name to the teacher as Fertilizer Johnson. Later the teacher asked the child's mother if that was right. Yes, man, dat's her name, said the parent. Her father's name am Ferdinand and my name is Liza, so we name her Fertilizer. So with the demos they ought to name the new cross Fertilizer. That first speech had a couple carloads.

Some folks afraid that with the coming of modern invention, Rome will be lost. But did Nick Carter ever have any more thrilling adventure than the Swedish plane that rescued Noble and his injured aid? About fifty years ago a clerk in the Patent Office in Washington committed suicide because he was afraid he would soon lose his job. Everything that could be invented had been invented. So with romance.

A river becomes crooked by following the line of least resistance, so does a political party.

To protect $9,000,000 worth of American property and the lives of a few civilians the American government has already spent almost as much as we have invested and the lives of 30 marines besides hundreds wounded. There are almost 5,000 marines in Nicaragua, 15 for every civilian. Is it worth while?

Never in political history has the choice of both parties for President been so speedy. It reminds us of Marjorie's reply to her mother who said "Marjorie, your aunt has a new baby boy, and I am an aunt, daddy is an uncle and you are a cousin. "My, said Marjorie, "wasn't that arranged quick."

From an exam paper just turned in at a nearby school. "Anatomy is the human body which consists of three parts—the head, the chest and the stomach." "The head consists of the eyes and brains—if any. The chest contains the lungs and a piece of liver. The stomach is devoted to the bowels—of which there are five—a-e-i-o-u and sometimes w and y."

Near Accident Is Avoided as Woman
Leaps From Auto

Circumstances over which no one had any control or is to blame, caused a slight damage Saturday noon to a Buick car being driven across the Dunton avenue crossing of the C. & N. W. R. R.

A switch engine, standing half way between the Dunton avenue and Evergreen street crossing suddenly started forward. The trolleyman began to ring the bell and close the gates. Mrs. Shelton, coming from the south attempted to stop her car, but failed in this and killed her engine with one wheel upon the first rail. She had the presence of mind to leap from the car.

The engine hit the hub cap and fender, pushing the auto to one side. The narrow escape was a shock to Mrs. Shelton, but she was able to drive the car home.

Human bones stop lengthening at about the age of eighteen, it has been lately verified, and nothing can be done thereafter to increase height.

LINCOLN PARK
LOANS ANIMALS TO DEER GROVE

Supt. Parker of the Lincoln Park zoo, visited Camp Reinberg at Deer Grove the other day and offered to equip the animal and bird cage with specimens from Lincoln Park. He also inspected the deer at the preserve and advised that efforts be put forward to introduce a stronger breed. The animals there appear to be rather weak.

Mr. Parker expressed surprise over the equipment at Camp Reinberg and was more than pleased to be able to do his part towards giving enjoyment to the fresh air children.

Among the innovations that arrived at the camp this week was a new cabinet size 7 tube radio, the gift of President Cernak. This radio has been placed in the cabin of the camp director, where a boy scout is always present. An appropriation of $100 has been secured for the purpose of constructing two additional load speaker extensions. One will be over near the girls' section and the other near the boys dormitory. This will be a great help.

The colors of Camp Reinberg are green and white. With the sidewalks and roadways in white and the green grass, Mr. O'Carroll decided to carry out the same colors in the buildings. The exteriors are painted green and the interiors white. Many of the buildings look resplendent in their new dress.

The foundation and floor is completed for a second boys dormitory, for 20 beds. A new help cottage has been constructed. The staff dining room and conference quarters has been completely enclosed and improved.

The changes about the grounds are not confined entirely to the buildings. The county gardener looked over the grounds last week, and larger flower beds will soon be in place. Sixteen hundred lineal feet of new sidewalk has been constructed this spring. New roads and paths have been laid out. These are to be graveled and covered with white screenings. The first camp fire in two years was held Wednesday night, making use of the new cement supported permanent seats. Mr. O'Carroll found that the moveable seats were endangering the limbs of the children and he held no more camp fires until some permanent seating plan could be installed. Permanent pillars now support the planks to which they are fastened. These seats grouped in a semi circle around a hollow before a wooden stage and a huge camp fire upon one side, make the outdoor entertainments especially inviting and enjoyable.

O'Carroll Hall, which was built and improved at practically no expense to the county now has permanent electric wiring and fixtures, the latter installed entirely at the personal expense of Mr. O'Carroll. The balcony has been enlarged. Permanent easy opera chairs have been installed for the mothers. This hall which serves as a church on Sunday and a theatre on other nights, through the courtesy of numerous Chicago picture houses, a feature movie with a comic will be shown twice each week in O'Carroll Hall. The camp director received letters this week from 21 such houses offering to cooperate without cost to the camp, to provide the films.

A. J. Joers' Five
Ten and Dollar Store
Opens In Palatine

A. J. Joers will open the doors of his variety store Saturday. Although the windows have been covered, there are any number of local people who are anxious not to allow them to go by without "looking in" upon the new store.

It is well and judiciously stocked. Almost everything that is needed about the household is there and at prices that are unusual. The advertising columns of this paper contain this week an announcement of the opening sale. The prices are below wholesale, but will serve as an introduction of the store to the general public. The selection of stock has been carefully made. A large part of the purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers and not through jobbers. Everything possible to cut the corners on prices has been done.

The Joers' store is not a cheap store; it carries dependable merchandise at money saving prices, giving the advantage to the customer that is obtainable through its buying power.

A $5.10 and $1.00 store in Palatine will no doubt meet with success and attract to the village patronage from the surrounding community. Mr. and Mrs. Joers are both Palatine young people who have the best wishes of a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Written words always come home to roost and proof readers are not perfect, just yet. The editor discovered this fact when he read the Cook County Herald this week; a reference to a raid that was conducted by Officer Pashby of the Palatine police force. The name of Haight, former policeman of Palatine, was inadvertently written instead of Pashby, which error is on the editor. The other error is the fault of the proof reader who interpreted the name of Rowan for "Mrs." Pashby. Pashby has been trying to explain ever since the paper came out that the Mrs. that was with him at the raid was no woman at all, but Officer Rowan. In this instance the editor was a poor writer, but the proof reader should know that a Palatine police officer would not take his wife along when he makes a raid. Sorry Pashby, but here is hoping that Mr. Haight does not find out about it. He might be real peeved.

Mrs. George S. Young, who has been visiting the editor's family, returned to her home in Chana, Ill. Thursday. Her niece, Esther Canfield who was a visitor at the home of Miss Dolly Wilson, accompanied her home.

The Enterprise returns this week to its former publication date, Thursday night, enabling all its readers to receive the paper Friday morning. We are making no promises for future conduct but it will be our endeavor to maintain that date. We print seven different newspapers Thursday afternoon and evening which means a lot of work. If the news matter is received promptly it will be of great help.

Messrs. Stanley Beckman, Herbert Goswiler and Robert Schoppe left by auto early Sunday morning for an auto trip through Michigan, also stopping at Canada. They called upon the Lucks at Jackson, but continued their journey as far as Ann Arbor, 294 miles, the first day. They called upon Arthur Newbold at Flint, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Luck, of Jackson, Mich., arrived in Palatine Tuesday. Mr. Luck is attending the seedmen's convention at the Hotel Sherman. Mrs. Luck joined him Thursday when the ladies were entertained. The Lucks will leave by train Saturday for Portland, Oregon and California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Neagel are visiting her parents at Edina, Mo.

Housekeeper Takes Blame Moonshine Making at Palatine

Palatine police discovered 110 pints of homebrew and 35 gallons of wine Saturday night in the home of A. Freauf, who resides on the former George Wilson farm. The housekeeper taken in the raid claimed that Mr. Freauf knew nothing about the "goods" that were manufactured and that any sale that she made was entirely on her own responsibility. The liquor was for home consumption, only said the housekeeper. The police attired as civilians had just finished buying samples of the home brew and wine and thought they had sufficient evidence that the "stuff" was also manufactured for sale. A. Freauf and the housekeeper were arrested. The evidence was all taken to the police station. For want of a safe place in which to store it, it has been nailed into the side room, that being the only way to lock the door.

Trustee Henning, chairman of the police committee had previously instructed the local police to raid the Freauf place whenever they thought the opportune time had arrived. Early Saturday evening, the place showed little activity but Officers Pashby and Officer Rowan drove out to the place armed with a search warrant, first purchasing their evidence, then carrying away with them the entire stock, part of which was in kegs.

The prisoners were taken before Judge Harz, who has set their trial for Wednesday. The defendants were represented by council and as there was no village attorney present to prosecute, a fine was assessed upon payment of which they were discharged.

Constable Meyers Boards One In Jail; Other in His Home

Constable Meyer finds that his job has many duties. His latest is giving free board to a youngster, whose dad he was forced to lock up until he sobered up. Mr. Meyer has a kind heart and he was glad to do the kindness. The father appeared to appreciate it the next morning. Sunday night, a Ford, occupied by two men and a boy, dropped off Ela road into the excavated Dundee road. The drop was not far, but the men were not able to help themselves to any great extent. After using all of their matches, the son was forced to flee from his father, who wielded a screw driver. The two men were under arrest and locked up before anything more was heard of the boy, who had sought shelter in a neighboring farm house. The farmer brought the boy to town when Meyer acted as the Good Samaritan. The local police aided Constable Meyer in getting the car and the men to the village hotel.

Spotlight Staff Enjoy Reunion

Editors and assistant editors of the Spotlight—past and present—had a delightful time Saturday night in a reunion that was attended by nearly seventy-five. Of course, all present were not editors, but they were at least friends of editors and they all enjoyed the special edition of the Spotlight in miniature that was issued in honor of the occasion. Snappy comebacks created a lot of smiles and removed any formality that might have been present. Bernard Regenber was the toastmaster. The toasts were as follows:

Spotlight, Louis Smith; People, Nora Schering; Onlookers, Elizabeth Starch; Time, Esther Bruhns; Love, Hollis Toynnton; Insignificance, Helen Cade; Girls, Beckman; Help, Marjorie Danielsens; The End, Vernette Schroeder.

The banquet was served in St. Paul's church, following which the "newspaper folks" danced until a late hour. Doody furnished the music.

Palatine Recreational Closes For Season

"Hungry Five" Have Reunion at Palatine

The most unequalled celebration took place Sunday, June 24, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Kuester on Plum Grove road. It was the 25th anniversary of the "Hungry Five" orchestra of Forest Glen. Twenty-five years ago, before jazz and prohibition, this bunch of boys fiddled good many a "square." Since that time all got married, and have families of their own. The reunion was to be held in Mr. Krest's woods in the form of a basket picnic. All were on time, but the weatherman sneaked in and made up for the prohibition law. It was all wet.

This club had its birth at the announcement of F. C. Woodrich to the other boys June 17, 1903, that he was to be married shortly, so a group picture was taken, which is highly prized as times goes on. It was their wish to get another, this time they all had their hats off to show they still had hair on their heads, regardless of being married. The background was different, it consisted of 5 wives, 18 children, one son-in-law and one grandchild, in place of the usual keg with the wood faucet. A pail and a tin dipper filled with good old aqua pura was one of the principal parts of the day. The boys who now are nearing the half century mark, showed they are still there with the same instruments and the same spirit, just a little out of practice.

The actual members are: F. W. Kuester of Plum Grove; John R. Kuester of Central road; Henry Kuester, Frank Woodrich and Paul Mueller of Chicago. Their wives and all members of their families were present, other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sedlack and daughter, Emily, of Chicago; Miss Evelyn Dale, Miss Edna Franke, Mr. Wm. Walter and others all of Chicago, about fifty guests were present.

On account of the threatening weather, no one ventured out to the woods but stayed in close to shelter. Horseshoe and baseball was part of the pastime, while the boys played "In the good old summer time." Good eats was well provided, as all had full baskets. After a brief business meeting by the members, election of officers and discussing of the future, it was proposed to make an annual affair of it, but Mr. Kuester thinks every 25 years is enough if it rains like it did this time. All went home very wet, but happy.

Old "Boys" Call for Aid in Lloyd Comedy

Arnica, court plaster and mercurchrome were favorite first aids while Lloyd was making his newest laugh creator, "Speedy," his latest Paramount release coming to The Catlow theatre, Barrington, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 27, 28 and 29, and frequent calls were made on the impromptu Red Cross station during the fight sequence, which provides one of the high water points in his latest work.

Lloyd has put many funny "factions," which is purely a motion picture term meaning "sequence," on the screen, but none more original, and few any funnier, than the fight in "Speedy." Old men whose average age probably would have been seventy, had a competition been made of their years, come to the rescue of Lloyd when thugs attempt to steal his horse car and prevent him from making a round trip within twenty-four hours, losing the much "coveted" franchise. The resultant fracas, one of the broadest laugh sequences ever seen in a Lloyd picture, produced much novelty in the gag line, and the methods followed by the Lloyd faction in winning are both clever and extremely funny.

One of the oldest "boys" participating in the battle was Hank Knight. Hank confesses to eighty-two summers. He claims distinction not so much as an actor as from the fact that he is one of the last living drivers of the Wells Fargo six-horse stage coaches. Hank used to run from Virginia City in Nevada to Placerville (old Hangtown), back between 1862 and 1869, and to hear him tell it, he welcomed the little workout he got in "Speedy," agents of the sixties. Hank claims to have transported $10,000,000 in gold coin without ever losing a penny, and to have seen three bandits killed by Wells Fargo messengers who rode with him.

The old gentleman will be seen in "Speedy," garbed in a suit of armor that lead to complications and some of the big laughs of the picture.

SCOUTS CAMP AT INDIAN MOUND

day was a rotten day so far. The weather was concerned, so the dads and mothers who accompanied their sons to Indian Mound Reservation near Oconomowoc, Wis. But the sixty Scouts in the Northwest suburban district who entered camp that day for a two weeks intensive training in Scoutcraft and a general good time, had no thought about the weather. They stood for an hour more out in the rain awaiting illumination by the camp physician, without a complaint. A representative of the Herald went along with the Scouts. It was his first visit at this camp and found it a new experience.

We often hear about the good turn a day that awaits a Scout. What would you think if you ran against 200 Scouts each watching for the opportunity to do that good turn? That was what the reporter found at Indian Mound. He was ever in an atmosphere like it. In ordinary life the grownups would be kicking about the weather, complaining about the parking of the cars, fighting for preferred positions, etc. There Scoutcraft predominated the place. The example set by the army of Scouts was unconsciously adopted by the parents. It was one great big family and no introductions were necessary.

The camp manual, which had previously been placed in the hands of every boy who was going to camp, stated that no punishment was ever inflicted at Indian Mound. We can now understand why. Any boy who would not respond to the treatment that is given him there, would not be in the Scout ranks. Boys, under the guidance and rules of Scoutcraft, were on their metal. With military precision the Scouts enter into the life of the camp. If the parents at home would adopt similar methods, instead of attempting to browbeat their offspring into doing things, many less instances of correction.

The boys from this district are lodged in their own groups. They are under Scoutmasters and assistants who are thoroughly trained and efficient in the work. By their demeanor, they command the respect and obedience of the Scouts and at the same time show that they think the boy language.

We are mentioning the above in order that our readers may know a little bit about the atmosphere with which their sixty boys are surrounded. These sixty boys are only the first contingent from the Northwest district. There are many more who are going later in the season, especially in the fifth or last period.

Having gotten our boys properly registered, which means passing under the observation of the camp director, the physician, the Scoutmaster and the secretary, the boys feel that he is a hundred per cent. He has a right to feel that way. Everything about him has stood inspection. With the assignment to cabins, he finds himself housed with nine other boys in a building, which the manual says is only the bed room, the living room being the great outdoors. The cots of iron are of stateroom type. Contrary to their elders, the boys favor the top deck. Why, the reporter did not learn.

Clean empty mattresses are on each cot, a bale of excelsior furnishes more than enough makings. And it is up to every boy to make his own bed.

One young man, who was only a visitor at the camp told "dad" on the way home, "I saw the rules that were posted and there were 25 of them." Those rules could better be called "suggestions" although they will be obeyed as though they were laws.

The boys had not been in their cabins ten minutes before one of them was placed upon the waiter's detail, and it was a hungry bunch which entered that dining room at one o'clock. Indian Mound is a large camp and a huge megaphone carries to all directions the bugle calls. Dad did not know what the bugler was saying, but the Scouts did and they lined up before their respective cabins in short notice. Here they received their first instructions, which in this instance were the rules of the dining room. The boys were reminded that there will always be plenty to eat and that if any Scout found that he did not have enough, he will have only to speak up. The Scouts were told that the same table manners they used at home were to be employed in camp. After watching the boys eat for a time, the reporter was willing to wager that the table manners in camp, in many instances, were a whole lot better than at home.

Boys like to be on their own and it was not long before gentle hints were given to the dads to clear out for home. The reporter did, fully satisfied that the Scouts were safer than at home, were going to have an experience they will long remember and are going to return from their outing improved physically and mentally.

The Herald is pleased to announce to its readers that a series from one of the local troops will have weekly letters about the event at Indian Mound reservation. Palatine and Arlington Heights each have six boys in the camp, as follows: Arlington Heights—Edward Adam, Lester Bell, Clifford Bell, Donald Meyer, James Kellough, LaVerne Olson. Palatine—James West, Louis Miller, Stuart Paddock, Wesley Cropper, Donald Kruse, Jack Thompson.

St. Paul's Ladies Aid Hold Annual Birthday Party

The Ladies Aid of the St. Paul Evangelical church held their third annual birthday party Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors. Each table was set to represent the months of the year, decorated appropriately and each member and guest seated at the table in which ever month they were born. The bouquets of roses were beautiful and added much to the decoration for surely the committee left nothing undone to make this one of the nicest birthday parties ever held. The beautiful large birthday cake was made and donated by Mrs. Anna Haldeman. The lunch consisted of pineapple salad, crackers, cake and coffee. A very fine program was also planned by the committee which was as follows:

Piano solo, Glown, by Floride Schroeder.

Violin solo, Rondo, by Herbert Schweitzer.

The oldest member present was Mrs. Ernestine Volmer and the youngest was Mrs. Anna Rohde.

Everybody present enjoyed the party and looking forward to their next party.

Ready for Work On Greater Chicago Lake Water System

The Greater Chicago Lake Water Company has acquired the assets and good will of the Municipal Water Company and is now prepared to begin construction and operation of a comprehensive water system intended to supply the present and suburbs. Chas. S. Thrasher, president of the Greater Chicago Lake Water Company issued the following statement last week:

Financial arrangements have been made with a group of well known bankers so that the beginning of construction and early operation of the system is dependent entirely upon prompt action of the various communities proposed to be served in signifying their interest and desire to take advantage of the facilities thus made available.

"We offer at wholesale an unlimited supply of pure and filtered Lake Michigan water, delivered to the limits of the various communities for distribution by the local water departments to their consumers."

"The volume and pressure will, at all times, be maintained sufficient to meet the maximum demand, thus resulting in improved fire protection and consequent reduction of insurance rates, improved health conditions because of the increased use of pure and palatable water, more enjoyable food because of use of purified water in cooking, and added inducements to industries seeking locations for their business."

"It is generally admitted by experts that the present sources of water supply of most of the communities suburban to Chicago, have been in the past, and now or will be in the very near future entirely inadequate and consequently serving to act as serious restriction to the future healthful and rapid growth of these communities. In the past the growth of these communities has made it necessary to add constantly to the capacity of existing municipal plants at enormous cost, in order to take care of the immediate increased demand, and in many instances these added facilities have of necessity been required to be made in haste and without proper regard for the future development and requirements of the situation. Additional expenditures, in order to obtain increased volume and required pressure, will no longer be necessary on the part of the community, if the facilities offered by the Greater Chicago Lake Water Company are accepted."

There were sixty-two members present and the collection amounted to $47.09, with more to come from those absent.

The oldest member present was Mrs. Ernestine Volmer and the youngest was Mrs. Anna Rohde.

Doctor: "Then don't throw any pineapples for a week or two."

Yes-sir-ee, I had fully decided to keep in step with the weather, that is, tell you something that would make the tear drops run down your back, and as the "boys" are again wearing suspenders, have them drop down the said suspenders, but to behold, "Old Sol" has again appeared with his rays, and same are shining on both sides of the street at this time, so I will try to think of something cheerful for this week. Further and more, unless you are washing your face in a strong solution of alum, you will have no trouble in bringing the old smile back again, at least for a few minutes.

Perhaps a little later I will come back to the Scotchman and the Irishman, but at this time I am going to "pick" something for the Veterans of Foreign Wars to "pick on."

There was a sergeant in a cavalry regiment who was having a hard time drilling some raw recruits. They couldn't stick on the horses' backs.

"Mind now," said the sergeant, "you're not to dismount under any circumstances."

One of the men fell off, and the sergeant roared at him: "Didn't I tell you to stick on?"

"Couldn't help myself," said the soldier.

"Oh, I suppose you had orders from headquarters?"

"No sir, from headquarters."

A sergeant had a squad of recruits out for rifle target practice, and was disgusted with their poor shooting, especially that of one of the men.

"Say," he said, "the bummiest shot in the whole regiment. You're no good at long range and work, you're rotten at the short range and you're worse at the medium. I don't believe you can hit anything. The best thing you can do is to go behind those bushes and shoot yourself."

The man said nothing, and the sergeant turned his attention to the other men. In a few minutes he heard a shot from behind the bushes. He rushed over, with visions of the recruit lying dead from a suicide's shot. But as he got there, the "rookie" stood up and greeted him with: "It's alright sergeant; I missed again."

Rev. J. P. Stafford In Very Stirring Sermon

"Manage your moods or they will manage you," warned the Rev. J. P. Stafford in his sermon at Palatine Methodist church Sunday morning. Dr. Stafford recited the list of men of history who have been subject to discouragement but have conquered the temptation to despair. The following are further quotations from his discourse.

"When like Pilgrim you are in the Slough of Despond, remember that you do but suffer an experience that is common to many others. When such hours come, it is the part of wisdom to seek their causes. Sometimes they have their rise from a physical difficulty that needs correction. Indigestion will often make the outlook temporarily blue. Attention to diet often will clear the darkened sky. Lack of change of occupation sometimes overcasts the sky for a man. Get out into the pure air, play a while by the streams, listen to nature's voices, and you will get a healthier outlook. These are some effective suggestions for the cure of our dark days, when the causes can be located, and removed."

"But often the causes lie deep—sorrow of a real and irremovable sort. A different remedy must be sought. One help is to get a new interest in life. Do something for somebody else. Remind yourself that you are only one in a vast company of sorrowing and broken hearts. Help some one worse off than you can always find them, and you will find a partial solace for your own real sorrow."

"The full and final cure for our dark days is in the Christian religion. We know that God is near and that God cares, the best comfort that life holds is ours. With Oliver Wendell Holmes we sing, O Love Divine, that stooped to share. Our sharpest pang, our bitterest tear. On Thee we cast our earth-born care. We smile at pain when Thou art near. In the fact of God's love we find the highest cure for our moods of dark discouragement. 'God's greatness flows around our incompleteness—round our restlessness His rest.'"

A THOT OR TWO

The road to success is to serve. We are sometimes persecuted, and we sometimes persecute. The way of the transgressor is hard. The way of a knocker is harder.

Someone asked, where is the Boaster's Bee. In your home town 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Have you got "it"? It is the ability to spread sunshine and cheer, have sympathy for other's misfortunes, giving the other fellow a chance.

Economy and thrift are the stepping stones to future happiness, future security, an insurance policy for your families protection and a sure barometer of your character. That's all, want to see you next week on the Booster's Bench.

ARLINGTON CELEBRATES THE FOURTH

Lions Back Observance
Of Country's Birthday
Next Wednesday

AFTERNOON — EVENING

Bams, Airplane Stunts, Baseball Games, Entertainers, and Dance Are Features

Arlington Heights pays honor to the forefathers of these United States next Wednesday. An invitation has been extended to the residents of the adjoining communities to celebrate at Arlington Heights. An afternoon and evening of entertainment has been provided. The entire program will take place at the high school grounds.

In the first place, the Arlington Heights municipal band will start their first concert at 1:30 p. m. This band is the oldest in this part of the state and, under capable direction, their concerts are well worth hearing as is attested by the large number who gather around the band stand every Tuesday evening. This band is not the only one that you will hear that afternoon. The newly organized grammar school band is representative of Young America and will "do their stuff" and will give a concert of their own.

A forty-five minute entertainment program will start at two o'clock. The entertainers will come from Chicago and will be of high class. Upon the same platform a number of short addresses will be given by local people, who are more or less prominent in public affairs. They will all be limited to a few minutes each. There will be no dry, long-winded speakers. This is to be a peppy celebration without a dull moment. The entertainers will appear several times during the afternoon, as will also the daylight fireworks.

At 2:45 the roaring sound of an airplane will be heard overhead. This plane will be Judge Byrd's special and will cut up all kinds of antics in the air. We understand that the Judge will insist upon occupying a seat in that plane, which will of course be opposed by his friends, he finally capitulating. However, the plane will be manned by his friends, from the Pal-Waukee air port and will be the same plane that the Judge is using in his practice flights.

This exhibition will culminate in a parachute jump from a height of a thousand feet. Immediately afterwards, the umpire will call "play ball" and the annual ball game between the Arlington Heights Booster Club and the All Stars, colored team of Chicago, will take place. For those who do not desire such a strenuous game, there will be a twilight game between the business men's association and the Lions Club that will be called at 6:45. So be sure to have your supper early and root for your favorite. An ambulance will be on hand to give first aid to the players.

During the afternoon an elimination tennis tournament will take place. There will be other games, including a horse shoe contest.

As twilight arrives, the municipal band will give another concert and the dancing starts in the gymnasium. Music will be by Nick's musical entertainers. The great fireworks display will start as darkness arrives. They are from the Liberty Fireworks Co. of Franklin Park, who will have a representative on the grounds to fire them. The crowd will be kept sufficiently distant, so permit everyone to see the ground as well as the aerial display.

This celebration affords to Arlington Heights people a happy afternoon and evening right here at home. The highways will be crowded, there will be many accidents. The man who wants to celebrate the day can find here at home all of the enjoyment, without any of the disadvantages of holiday traffic. Spending of the day in Arlington Heights will mean a same celebration, but a peppy one which the youngest member of your household will enjoy—even if he has no opportunity to blow off his fingers with giant fire crackers.

According to information given out by Noble Puffer, the manager of the tennis tournament to be held the Fourth of July, all entries must be in by Tuesday evening, July 3, at 6 p. m. A cup will be given to the winner of the singles and one cup to the winners of the doubles tournament. Elimination will begin at 9:30 a. m. July 4. The tournament will be for men only and no entries should be sent that will not get in on time. Send all entries by mail to Noble Puffer, Arlington Heights, Ill. The fee for the singles is $7.50 and $5.00 each for the doubles or $1.00 for both singles and doubles for one person.

Ancient Helvetians

The Helveti were a Celtic people who originally dwelt between the Rhine, the Main and the Hercynian forest. Later, according to Caesar, they occupied the region between the Jura mountains, on the west; the Rhone, on the south, and the Rhine, on the east and north. This region corresponds closely with the western part of modern Switzerland.

ORDINANCE ON SEWER MAY BE READY MONDAY

An adequate sewer system for Arlington Heights is a step nearer realization. It is expected that a revised ordinance will be ready for passage early next month and perhaps on next Monday. As a result of a re-check of the original plans and a study of the existing conditions, the total cost of the improvement can be somewhat reduced. Not alone will it be possible to reduce the original cost, but the cost of maintenance will be less than half as provided in the original plans. This saving is to be made possible by the lowering of the outlet and the elimination of considerable of the sanitary sewer for both the north and south sides.

The double system was originally deemed necessary in order to give adequate fall to the territory to be served. The original plan also omitted the sanitary system from part of the village, serving same only with a drainage system as a partial benefit. It is understood that this section can now receive full benefit, or can have it any time that it is desired to extend the latter.

The re-check of the original plans and this new procedure clears the way for the early completion of the long delayed sewer. The board and the general public have reason to feel elated over the progress that has been made the past two weeks.

Mr. Ralph Gallo, a section foreman for the C. & N. W. Ry. was accidentally killed about 9 o'clock p. m. Tuesday, while on duty with another railroad employee. We understand that the handcar on which they were going home, was struck by a special fast train and he was instantly killed. His companion escaped with minor bruises. Mr. Gallo was a quiet man, well liked by all who knew him. The inquest was held at Glenview Wednesday, but at the request of his widow, the body was turned over to Mr. Haben who embalmed and prepared it for burial. The funeral will be held at St. Peter's Catholic church, Niles Center, at 9 a. m. Saturday.

DEPUTY SHERIFF MEETS DEATH IN LINE OF HIS DUTY

Cook county highway Deputy Sheriff John Sweitz, riding from the County Highway Police station at Milwaukee avenue and Ballard road, was instantly killed Sunday morning at River road and Bryn Mahr avenue.

Deputy Sweitz and Deputy Petz were riding their post on River road between Desplaines and Maywood, when on their return trip they encountered a speeding car which they pursued. Guy of 1300 E. 56th street, Chicago, going south passed up the car ahead and thereby necessarily getting into the path of Deputy Sweitz, which was done so suddenly to swing out to avoid colliding. The motorcycle hit the left side of the car throwing it together with Sweitz in the ditch and killing him instantly.

Deputy Petz commanded a car to take Sweitz to the hospital and took the driver of the other car into custody.

Deputy Sweitz was married and has three small children. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from the Chapel in Maywood and interment was made in the Barrington cemetery with an escort of his fellow officers, an airplane following the procession enroute and dropping flowers on the way.

Schiller Park

Police News

A Chrysler going north on River road caused a very bad smashup with three other machines, sending a truck, Ford sedan and Buick coupe into the ditch, also sending John Aswall and Chester Neilson, who were in the Ford car, badly hurt and J. F. Dalton in the Buick coupe, with his nose and face cut, up to the hospital in Dunning. This all happened June 21, at 5 p. m.

Saturday night Chief L. Grosch, about 3 a. m., saw two boys who did not look good to him in a Chrysler and after chasing them into Franklin Park, caught them and brought them back and when the Chicago detective bureau arrived for them, officers stated they were wanted bad.

The hoodlums better stay out of Schiller Park as our police department will not stand for anything from crooks.

School of Religion Opened Tuesday At Methodist Church

A summer course in religion was started at the Methodist church Tuesday with a corps of four teachers under the direction of Rev. Billman. The enrollment nears the one hundred mark.

The course as outlined is already proving very attractive. The ages that are served are from the first grade in school including the first year of the high school. The sessions open at nine o'clock and close at eleven. The young people do not spend all of those two hours in study. The daily program includes setting up exercises, volley ball and other athletics aside from actual study of religion. Rev. Billman states that an increased interest is expected and new people as workers. It will continue throughout the summer.

Soil Authority Buys Home in Arlington Hts.

C. C. Compton, formerly of Aurora, connected with the board of registration and education and who has been identified for a long time with the state agricultural department has purchased a permanent home in Arlington Heights. He is a good team mate for Mr. Barrett, the county farm adviser. While their work is some what different, the job of each is to advance the interests of agriculture, the farm adviser in a general way and Mr. Compton in soil treatment. Arlington Heights is fortunate in having both as residents. Incidentally, both own their own homes in the City of Good Neighbors.

Mr. Compton is engaged in experiments at the experimental station near Des Plaines, assisting Mr. A. A. Lewis, director of that station. This is not Mr. Compton's first acquaintance with Arlington Heights. He is renewing old friendships. Five years ago, he directed experiments at the farm of W. E. Meier, which resulted in increasing the yield of potatoes from 80 to 264 bushels to the acre. He sought out Mr. Meier, expecting to rent a home. Mr. Meier soon convinced him that he should own his own home and accordingly sold to him the Wm. L. Moehling place on South State road.

Mr. Meier reports unusual real estate activity in farms. His firm recently traded two houses in Fairmont, N. D., for 12 acres near Sutton, $20,000 being involved.

A deal was closed last week for 300 acres in McHenry county, involving $26,000.

The farm of 78 acres on North State road, owned by Mrs. Schoenbeck, of Forest Park, was sold to C. M. Behrens.

New Stonegate Section Opened On Thursday

The first section of Stonegate, comprising a real estate valuation of over $350,000, has been entirely sold out, and today, the second section is first offered to the public.

Hundreds of people from Chicago and other neighboring localities are expected to visit the local property this week-end. Citizens of this community are also showing great interest in the achievement.

Invested in many of them having invested in the first section. Among the prominent men of Arlington Heights who now own Stonegate homesites are Mayor Flentje, William Webber, G. W. Zander, C. M. Behrens, Walter F. Karstens, Ed Schlenberger, Eugene Heller and Burton Hills.

With construction to start immediately on a new group of sixteen homes in the second section, the total building contracts at Stonegate are now in excess of $1,000,000. These buildings, for which Walter Hunnemoeder is the architect, will be completed for occupancy in September.

An interesting feature of the second section will be the Three States boulevard, which skirts this portion of the property. This boulevard is a part of the Tri-State Highway, designed by the Regional Planning Association to extend from Milwaukee to Michigan City. The section being constructed at Stonegate is expected to serve as a model for the remainder of the highway.

Double one-way drives, with a central parkway 100 feet in width, are being developed. It is being pointed out by Cook county officials as an ideal example of modern boulevard construction.

At the intersection of the Tri-State Highway, where the Chicago and Northwestern railroad proposes to erect a passenger depot, the first unit of a model business community is being planned. This structure, which will be of Old English architecture, will house a service station for motorists and a high grade tea room and restaurant. It is being designed by Walter Hunnemoeder.

Second Tri-Ply House Erected at Stonegate

The walls are being laid for the second stone Tri-Ply house at Stonegate, the unique residence section at Arlington Heights. The first house was sold before it was completed and it has attracted considerable attention from those who have visited it. It is being used by permission of the new owner as "the most interesting demonstration home in the middle west."

Miss Hausam's Pupils In Mid-Summer Recital

Friday night last week, Miss Hausam gave a class recital in the Methodist hall. The rain and threatening weather, did not hinder the large and appreciative attendance. Something over forty pupils took part in the program.

There were duets, trios, and single numbers. It was pleasing to see three little people, in a prettily played trio, as is characteristic of Miss Hausam's pupils, the technique time memory, were evidenced. The pupils who memorized their music seemed to be better masters of expression.

Miss Weiler, who has become a favorite with Miss Hausam's audiances, was present and delighted with her numbers.

The attendance of parents and friends proved their interest in the class. Altogether, this midsummer musical was a creditable success, and has been pronounced the best of all Miss Hausam's class entertainments. This, to one who has attended and knows the high standards and interest of those past, realize that this is the greatest praise could be given.

The harmonious setting of the hall and stage accentuated the enjoyment of the entertainment. It was a creditable success.

Boy Scouts Attend Over Night Trip

Seventeen members of Troop No. 7 with the troop officers attended an overnight trip to the camp of the Isaac Walton club near Dam No. 2, last Saturday and Sunday.

The early part of the trip was most enjoyable and productive of advancement but someone turned on the sprinkler Sunday noon and forgot to turn it off.

However it takes more than water to beat out a "good scout" and the program continued until the arrival of the truck at 2:30 when the homeward trip began.

Many thanks are extended Mr. Jahn for his kindness in furnishing the transportation for both of our troop hikes.

It is however regrettable that none of our scouts do not turn out on the over night hikes.

Scouting is for advancement, for all that is good and that includes the item of "self reliance."

How much better off a boy is when he can do real things for himself and others. When he isn't afraid to rough it, cook his own meals and look after himself and others the right way. That's one phase of scouting. Another phase is obedience. All are most thoroughly grounded in obedience in scout work.

And about 75 per cent of scout work is carried on during over-night hikes.

Four meetings a month of about one and one half hours each, total six hours for the month.

Double that to include "patrol meetings"—makes twelve hours of inside work.

One hike will run about 36 hours or three times the inside work.

Get your boys out on the hikes folks and let us do for them what we are doing for a few who have attended.

Give him a couple of blankets, a stew pan, skillet, digging tools (spoon, knife, fork) and some food for at least three meals. See how happy he will be and how much more he will get from his scout work.

Also, folks, just remember this all hikes are supervised by scout leaders and your boy is going to tell the other, "Gee, fellows, my folks are regular guys, they let me go on the hikes 'n do things."

You'll mean more to him and he to you.

Try it once and be convinced.

Regular meetings of the troop are held Monday evenings in the high school gym 7:15 to 9:15.

Watch for information regarding the July hike.

Class of Mr. Reed Gives Season Closing Recital

Monday night, Mr. Reed gave the closing recital of the season in the new hall of the M. E. church. The weather was rather unkind. Yet this did not hinder the parents and friends of the class of over sixty pupils. Mr. Reed has instructed during the year, from coming out to hear this well arranged and interesting program.

The hall was so attractively lighted, and all the placings seemed to add to the success of the affair.

There were two well executed hand piano numbers, and the younger pupils always delighted the company. Although our right-minded and wise music teachers do not desire special praise to be given, thus publicly to individual pupils, one must say some of the older piano pupils are worthy of high praise for their really wonderful playing.

Mrs. Flynn, of Des Plaines, gave selected readings. To say they were unusually and delightfully well given, not flung out in a high pitched oratorical tone, as so many amateurs assume, but given in a natural manner, as only a true reader and delineator knows to employ. Mrs. Flynn is the wife of Mr. Flynn, the theatrical director of the "Buddies Play" recently given by the community players. To say that Mrs. Flynn's artistic ability equals her husband's, is to express merited high praise.

Mr. Read was especially pleased with the fine lighting, so well managed by Mr. J. Y. Beatty, which added to the success of his recital.

Mrs. V. Terry Wins Cash Prize

The first drawing of River Grove Business Men's Association coupons showed Mrs. V. Terry the lucky winner.

The next month four prizes will be given of which the details will be found in next week's paper.

MT. PROSPECT

On account of the heavy rains, and wet grounds, the Jolly Bunch have not held their outing as reported but are postponing this pleasure until a near future day. Members will be notified the exact day.

In connection with the graduation exercises and picnic program of St. Paul's Lutheran church, the Ladies Aid served a very large crowd with dinner and supper. Although it poured almost all day the bunch were good true sticklers until the end.

The annual convention of the Northern Illinois district of the Lutheran Mission Synod took place at the Lutheran Teachers' college at River Forest. Rev. Alex. Ulrich of La Grange as president of the district recited at all the meetings. Our Rev. J. Mueller and three teachers also Mr. Oehlerking as delegate attended these meetings. The district numbers 165 pastors, 175 congregations and 300 teachers of parochial schools. Sessions ended Tuesday afternoon.

We are sorry to hear our good patriotic "Mother Tubbs" (Mrs. A. Fleish) is laid up with a sore foot. But she sure has a good nurse in Mrs. Ray Fleish. Here's hoping she will soon be up and around again.

Some of our young folks are planning a picnic at River Grove on more sunshine, so they enjoy a real good time.

A very interesting A. L. L. meeting was held on Thursday evening, the social part of it was quite jolly as they had a debate on ice cream and smokes, what side won. What side do you think?

Predicts Bumper Crops for West

Chief Mulso's return home last week has brought some news on crop conditions in the Dakotas and Minnesota. As you all know the Chief was called to his boyhood home, due to the serious illness of his mother, who passed into eternity a week ago Monday and was laid to her last earthly resting place on Wednesday of that week.

It is only natural that our sincere sympathies extend to Chief Mulso and in stating this the editor believes every reader of the Herald joins him.

Upon return of the Chief to Mt. Prospect, he informed the editor that crop conditions in both of the Dakotas and Minnesota were as fine as he had ever seen them and that if ever a bumper crop was to be harvested, it looked like they would have one this year. The weather has been ideal and everything is in the farmer's favor, even if Hoover received the Republican nomination.

Playground Rules Of Mount Prospect

The chairman of the public grounds committee, requested the editor to publish some rules the children should observe in using the apparatus on the playground.

First: Do not stand on the swings, as this is dangerous and not necessary to secure maximum speed.

Second: Do not jump off the teeters while your playmate is on the other end of the board, as this may cause serious injury to him or her.

Third: When on the Giant Slide, be careful not to let go of the handles while the full swing is going as this may hurt a playmate. Do not try the high flier, as you may hurt yourself.

Fourth: When you are told not to do a certain thing by the police or other authority, be sure to obey or you may be refused the use of the playground until you can obey instructions.

The playground is for the use of all the children of Mt. Prospect and was put there for that purpose by the village board and the chamber of commerce.

An Invitation To Mount Prospect

The Arlington Heights Lions, through their president, H. J. Byrd, have asked the Herald to extend to the citizens of Mt. Prospect, a special invitation for the Fourth of July celebration, to be given at Arlington Heights.

A good time is assured one and all who attend and the committee in charge of this affair, have done everything possible to arrange a program that will interest young and old.

William Busse is to be one of the principal speakers of the day. There will be games and races galore, two bands and in the evening plenty of fireworks. So if you want to help our neighboring village celebrate in a safe and safe way, do so by attending their celebration on July Fourth, 1928. They welcome you.

Thistle Time Is Here; Be Sure To Cut Them

Now is the time to cut the Canada Thistles you may have on your property. If you do not do this and you live in Elk Grove township, the Thistle Commissioner will present you with a nice white slip of paper, which will mean a penalty for you to pay. Cut your thistles now, and you will save your self considerable trouble as the statutes provide that you, and you alone, are responsible, if you allow thistles to bloom and mature their seeds upon your land, be you either owner or tenant.

The village of Mt. Prospect is doing its share to get rid of this nuisance, but it requires co-operation on all sides.

Let every property owner look over his land and see that it is clear of these thistles and let him talk to his neighbor about getting them off of his land. Work together and you can beat the biggest enemy to crops we have. Co-operation is the way to success.

Schiller Park Is Unhealthy To Bum Check Passers

When hoodlums think they can come into Schiller Park and cash bum checks and get away with same, they are all wrong. Mr. L. Mont. West of 608 1/2 N. Austin avenue, Oak Park, put the rush act on Christ Theodorakias & Bros. for three checks; one for $100.00, one for $40.00 and one for $25.00.

Mr. West works for Cooley Bros. Motor Co. at Oak Park, a salesman, after looking him up at the Prairie State Bank at Oak Park, Ill., L. Grosch, chief of police of Schiller Park found out that Mr. West had passed about 18 bad checks and started on his trail. He had left Oak Park and was located in Gary, Ind., and left there and went to Detroit, where he was located and the chief of police of Detroit police to pick him up. On his way from the hotel to the station Mr. West took 100 grains of poison pills, but by quick work at the hospital they pumped his stomach and saved him. L. Grosch left at midnight over the M. C. R. R. to Detroit to bring him back and signed all warranted papers, but Mr. West was too sick to leave them. He was brought back Friday, June 22, at 4 p. m. and locked up in Oak Park. He will be tried Saturday, June 23, and then will be brought to Schiller Park to be prosecuted on same charges. He also jumped bond of $2,000 for stealing a car in Chicago.

River Grove Euclid Club Going Ahead

Although only a few months old the River Grove Local of the Euclid Club is making some wonderful strides. The invitation of the Kelowna Park Euclid Club inviting the River Grove Local and its friends to attend an evening of diversified entertainment and a talk on the coming world's fair was answered by an attendance, that went beyond all expectations.

In saying that it was a night well spent is only putting it mildly for it was not only interesting but also educational.

Again Sunday morning at the picnic held, the weather was not in our favor but races, dances, and contests went on just the same and were enjoyed by all.

The crowd did not leave the grove until a late hour, which proves that they must have had a good time.

The meeting held Monday night was a success, in spite of the heavy downpour of rain.

The attendance was good, the refreshments were superb.

Also a number of new members were again taken up.

The club can expect some pleasant surprises, in the way of entertainment for they have the Honorable George Hanson as chairman of the entertainment committee.
